Jo Juco Relives Some Events of 1953-1954 at J.J.C.

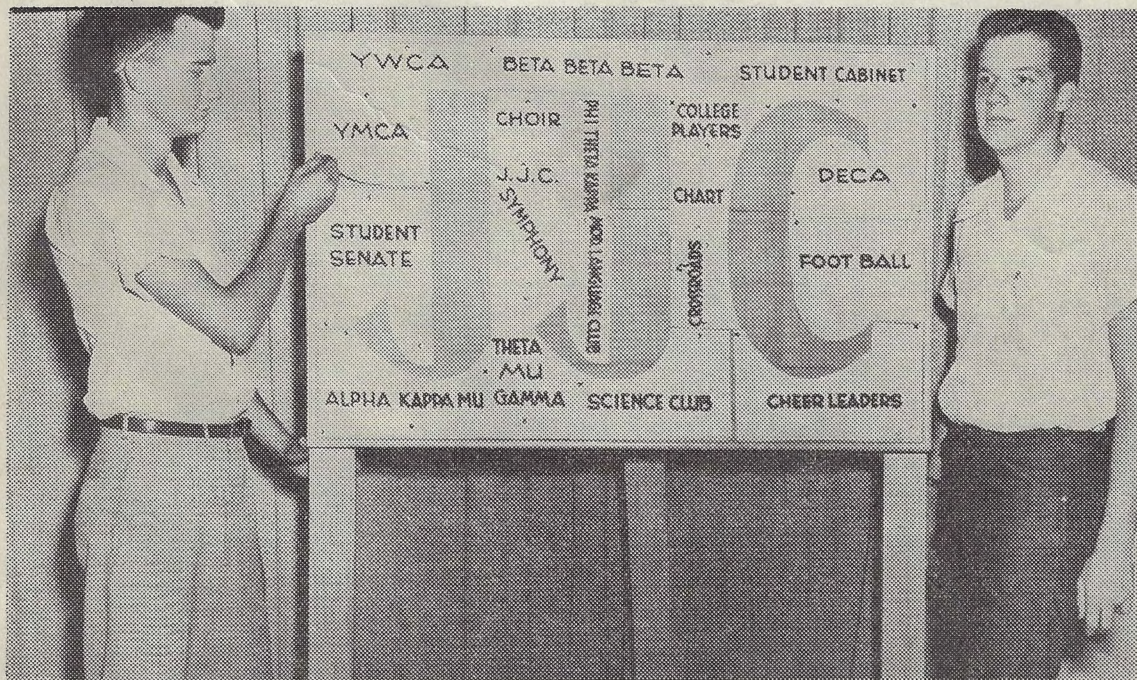

This is Jo Juco, the familiar guardian of our halls, as he speaks from his quiet corner on the second floor. He has lived at J. J. C., as mascot, for many years. In 1952, students named him "Jo Juco" and made him a home where he watches the front entrance and activities of students. Being in such an advantageous position, he can easily remember some of the outstanding events and organizations of the year. These he presents to you.

Dr. Maurice L. Litton, who entered Joplin Junior College as the new Dean this year, hands the gavel of leadership to Walt James, president of the Student Senate, and congratulates the other officers.

Here are some of the activities that combine to make Joplin Junior College the all-interest school that it is.

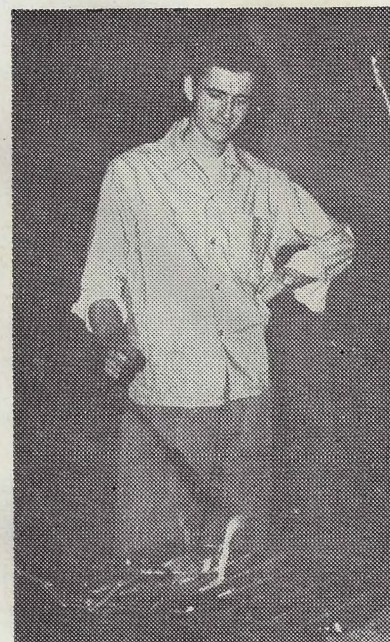

Sophomores give a synopsis of each organization at an orientation assembly with two members of Phi Theta Kappa explaining the reward for keeping grade points rising.

Social Life

These traditional beginning activities, the mixer and the weiner roast, introduce students in informal get-togethers.

Y. W. C. A. girls portray the fun of entertaining a Korean teen-ager turned American coed at a party given in her honor by "Y" sponsors.

A highlight of the fall season is the annual Homecoming student-alumni dance. Here former students meet with old friends and renew past memories.

Alma Mater

Our Alma Mater, we honor thee,
Shaping and Guiding our destiny.
After we have parted,

As the years roll by,
We'll hold each memory.
Hail, hail, to thee.

We of the Chart Staff are happy to have presented Joplin Junior College as seen through the eyes of Jo Juco during the preceding nine months. We would like to leave you with the memory of "Our Alma Mater," which has become dear to us as a personification of toilsome days, but happy days.
